GOOD NEWS FOR WOMEN

A Discovery Which Cannot be Estimated in Dollars and Cents.

To women who are not well, and tired of the useless, nauseating taking of drugs, Dr. Sanden of New York wishes to announce that he has just issued a neat illustrated little book fully explaining how they can treat and cure themselves at home by electricity. The treatment is so common-sense that it does not admit of failure, and every woman suffering female weakness, rheumatism, lumbago, kidney or stomach complaints, etc., does herself an injustice by not investigating it. The book holds out no false inducements, but gives scores of plain references in every State who have been cured after all other treatments failed. It is free by mail, upon application. Address DR. SANDEN, 826 Broadway, New York City. ESTABLISHED 30 YEARS.

For Sale.

EUROPE'S HARVEST TIME.

After the first heavy inrush of foreign imports under the new tariff which the Democratic politicians in Congress kindly provided for the benefit of their good friends, the European manufacturers, it was inevitable that there should be more or less of a reaction. Something of it is apparent in Bradford's shipments of worsted and woolen goods to America, which show a certain reduction for the first quarter of 1896, as compared with the corresponding period of 1895, just after the Gorman-Wilson law had gone into full operation.

Of course, so far as this decrease in foreign imports goes, it means some small relief for American manufacturers, but, as a well-known textile trade journal says, "this end was attained, however, by sacrificing their entire profit. By charging nothing to rental, to interest, to depreciation, etc., they have been able to keep their mills running. To manufacturers who lease their mills the hardship of such a policy is too great to be long continued."

Fortunately, it will not have to be continued very much further. For a year hence, unless all indications fail, a political party is coming into power in this country which will legislate for the benefit of American manufacturers and not for the benefit of foreign manufacturers—for the welfare of Lowell and Lawrence and Worcester and Providence, and not for the welfare of Bradford.

Our foreign friends must make hay while the Democratic sun shines for them. Pretty soon the American people are going to have their turn at good business and good wages.—Journal.

One swallow does not make spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. H. C. Pierce, Barton; D. W. Hildreth, Barton Landing; R. E. French, Glover.

RESULTS OF THE CLEVELAND POLICY.

A writer in the American Economist says: "Since the first of last January I have visited the States of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana, Pennsylvania and the State of New York. I have seen and talked with many prominent merchants, manufacturers, bankers and workmen in nearly every city of the above States regarding the conditions now existing relative to trade, traffic and employment. The capital of nearly all jobbing houses is trained to the utmost limit carrying their customers through the trying period, and they do not believe there will be any relief while the Democratic party controls the affairs of the Nation. Without a single exception all unite in saying that the depression of all lines of business is even greater than at any time since the inauguration of Grover Cleveland in March 1893. All with one united voice now attribute their distress and the prostration of business to the disastrous results arising from the enactment of the Wilson-Gorman bill, which has closed our factories, contracted the output of every class of industry, including the farmer, importer, merchant, and the mechanic. I found only condemnation and denunciation of the Wilson-Gorman measure all along the line. None spoke of it but to condemn, while there was a universal demand for the re-enactment of the 'McKinley bill' or one framed on even higher Protective Tariff lines. The people now realize vividly what a Protective policy means for them and their country."

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. H. C. Pierce, Barton; D. W. Hildreth, Barton Landing; R. E. French, Glover.

FREE-TRADE TESTIMONY.

The Textile Manufacturer of Manchester, England, has the following to say about the Wilson law:

One of the most striking effects of the Wilson bill has been the increase in the imports of rags and shoddy, which shows that the American public, if it is getting its clothes any cheaper, it is certainly getting less value for its money.

No one denies that this shoddy is being used in place of wool. If further evidence of the deterioration of the average quality of cloth used in America since the operation of the Wilson bill is needed, it can be found in the record of closings and the running on short time of many of the mills which have always made a specialty of high-grade goods. At Rockville, which is perhaps the centre of the fine woolen industry in New England, the mills are running on two-thirds time and short capacity at that.

Be it remembered this is not an attack on the prosperity of the country by a partisan Republican paper. It is not a "calamity howl" emitted for political effect. It is not an attempt to discredit that wise tariff tinker, Professor Wilson. It is a simple statement of actual fact, made by a Free-Trade paper, published in the strongest Free-Trade community in the strongest Free-Trade Nation in the world. It is a plain declaration of truth, showing that in every example that can be taken of the workings of the Wilson law the United States gets the wrong end of the bargain.

This Free-Trade English publication confirms everything that the Press has said about wool and shoddy. But among American Free Traders there is no such honesty. By that much is our Free-Trade breed the worst of them all.—Press.

To nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a priceless boon, for it not only strengthens the mother, but also promotes an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child. For those about to become mothers, it is even more valuable for it lessens the perils and pains of childbirth and shortens labor. Of all dealers.

Sick stomach means sick man (or woman). Why not be well?

Sick stomach comes from poor food, poor nourishment; means poor health, poor comfort. Shaker Digestive Cordial means health and a well stomach.

If we could examine our stomach we would understand why it is that so little will put it out of order.

But, unless we are doctors, we never see our stomach. We only feel it. We would feel it less if we took Shaker Digestive Cordial.

Shaker Digestive Cordial makes your stomach digest all the nourishing food you eat, relieves all the symptoms of indigestion, acts as a tonic and soon makes you well and strong again.

The more you take the less you will feel of your stomach. At druggists. Trial bottle 10 cents.

ONE LESSON OF GRANT'S BIRTHDAY.

None of the orators of the last few days has dwelt—the canons of taste probably forbade their dwelling—upon the greatest service of the civil life of the man whose birth was commemorated on April 27.

Yet Grant's veto of the inflation act was a greater victory for the Union than any but his greatest victories in the field. In it he saved the country from itself, as before he had saved it from rebellion. In it he taught the lesson that the price must be paid, the atonement suffered, for every National excess; that the toper's remedy of the hair of the dog—inflation for inflation—could only lead from debauch to delirium.

Other Presidents since then have applied or stood ready to apply the same stern tonic of suffering, the grin-and-bear-it treatment. It has not been an entirely difficult thing to do, for a President is not amenable to the demands of single groups of intensely interested and even desperate constituents. But Grant was the first, and Grant went to his conclusion that the veto was necessary, alone and unaided. He has left on record the fact that he did his own thinking about it. Moreover, he had not at that time, nor, indeed, at any time, a commanding mind in the Treasury Department as he had in that of State. So that venture in the foreign field of finance was as much his own as when, after that dissentient council of war which preceded the advance on Vicksburg, he said: "Gentlemen, we march at 3 o'clock."

Time will come in a few years—tho' it is all too early now—when this act of the peculiarly soldier-President will attain some of the fame which is now accorded to some deeds of Washington's civil life; when the veto of March 22, 1874, will be something such a landmark in the financial policy of the country as is the Farewell Address in its foreign policy.—Press.

A. L. Wooster, a prominent citizen of Osseo, Mich., after suffering excruciatingly from piles for twenty years, was cured in a short time by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, an absolute cure for all skin diseases. More of this preparation is used than all others combined. H. C. Pierce, Barton; D. W. Hildreth, Barton Landing; R. E. French, Glover.

HOME ENTERPRISE.

We condense from a very timely and truthful article which appeared in the Lyndon Union the following:

The suggestion in the Union last week, of putting home capital into home business and under home managers by enlarging profit-paying business, meets with favor with all who give it thought. If there is $40,000 or $50,000 ready to go into a new enterprise under the management of a stranger who assumes no risk and has no interest in the place, that same capital ought to be ready to go into paying home enterprises under the management of home operators with successful business record and who are interested in building up the village. Foreign enterprises are experiments, which may prove profitable and may not. The history of home enterprises is known, some having employed men and supported families for years. Select the best of these and they can be enlarged with profit to increased capital. Call the owners or operators before the people, learn their methods, inspect figures of expenses and receipts, study the market for the goods, the expense of selling, and thus learn, from men who are reliable, interested in the village and willing to risk their own money, all about the business, its past, its present and its prospects. If the information be favorable, enlarge the plant, incorporate, organize, elect business directors, put a competent man into the management and go ahead. Do this with a half dozen small industries in the village, and the equivalent of two shoe factories will be secured with the cost of one, the business will be under the management of men who have made it pay, who are known as fixtures in the village, with interest in its prosperity and growth.

The business to be preferred is that which works raw material produced here, and which reaches market with only one freight. The business most profitable to the village is that which employs the most help on the least raw material. The village wants not the goods, but the increased operatives, with families to feed, clothe and shelter and to increase demand for rents and the value of real estate.

As an instance of building up home industries, look at the Percival Manufacturing Co. of Barton, run for years by C. F. Percival, a Barton boy, who made furniture in a small way, gaining steadily, but slowly, by reason of small capital. Noting success and possibilities, others took hold with him, enlarged and got the advantage of division of labor. A rapid growth, profit, more people and more village attractions followed. Last year this concern sold about 8000 pieces of furniture, much of it of fine workmanship and high price. Men are on the road meeting with success in selling and securing orders in different states.

If villages would prosper they must shape industries in a way to benefit farmers, to give value to their forests and lands, with good market for their products. People in villages must patronize home merchants and practice the principle of taking a dollar out of one pocket, spending it at home and putting a part of it back into the other pocket. Our people should keep constantly in mind the tendency to abandon the country and go West, or bunch up in the cities, and should study every method calculated to counteract this tendency. They should farm less land, farm it finer, and make one acre produce the usual income of two or three, which can be done without increase of capital or help. Villages should establish industries for the manufacture of raw material produced by their respective localities, lumber and granite being leaders here. But the same principle should be observed in manufacturing as in farming—employing the most help possible on the least material. A few men can send an acre of forest to market in the shape of dimension lumber, while a small army would be employed in sending it in form of ready-made house finish, high grade furniture, croquet sets, chairs, tool handles, bobbins, small spools, buttons, etc.

From LaGrippe.

How Dr. Miles' Nervine Restored One of Kentucky's Business Men to Health.

No DISEASE has ever presented so many peculiarities as LaGrippe. No disease leaves its victims so debilitated, useless, sleepless, nervous, as LaGrippe.

Mr. D. W. Hilton, state agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Co., of Kentucky, says: "In 1889 and '90 I had two severe attacks of LaGrippe, the last one attacking my nervous system with such severity that my life was despaired of. I had not slept for more than two months except by the use of narcotics that stupefied me, but gave me no rest. I was only conscious of intense mental weakness, agonizing bodily pain and the fact that I was hourly growing weaker."

When in this condition, I commenced using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. In two days I began to improve and in one month's time I was cured, much to the surprise of all who knew of my condition. I have been in excellent health since and have recommended your remedies to many of my friends."
